

STATIONERY

A STEADY STREAM
of stationery and office supplies flows from the store to our customers, and another stream replenishes the stock. This is kept up to a condition where betterment is impossible.

from the best manufacturers in each line fills our shelves, and little money will transfer the ownership. The proof of the value is in the quality.

Dying of Famine
is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor in vain I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia.

Henrietta Crosman.
The event of the present theatrical season will be the engagement at the Barre opera house of Henrietta Crosman in her great successes "Nance Oldfield" and "Madeline". "Nance Oldfield" the title role of which was peculiarly adapted to Miss Crosman's art, is considered by competent critics to be one of her greatest triumphs. She realizes all the vivacity and spontaneous happiness of the character and brings out all the possibilities of the comedy. "Nance Oldfield" will be followed by "Madeline", a tragedy in two acts by Mrs. W. K.
Clifford of London. This is one of the most artistic and perfectly constructed plays of modern times. It is a powerful story of heart interest and gives Miss Crosman an opportunity to display her wonderful versatility.

At Castle Park Theatre.
"Hearts of the Blue Ridge," a drama by Hal Reid, will be presented by Dorothy Lewis on next Monday at Castle Park theatre. It has been received with great favor by large audiences in other cities. The theme of the play is one of those family feuds which often disturb the peace of the North Carolina hills, and the author is said to have treated this phase of Southern life in a fresh way and has depicted the type of the Southern mountaineer, in whose unrelenting nature the peculiarities of the mountains are mirrored. Bob Reynolds is in love with Missy Carter, whose respective parents like the Montagnes and the Capulets of old are engaged in the desperate and bitter feud.
When Missy's father learns of this he sends his daughter from his roof. In the course of the feud Acie Carter, Missy's brother, falls into the hands of the enemies of his house and is subsequently killed by one of the Reynolds'. Angered at this treachery, Bob leaves his father and marries Missy, whose father has reluctantly sufficient to permit them to live under his roof, but who refuses to notice them. The last act shows the grandfathers shake hands over the cradle of their grandson and all ends happily. One of the many features is a negro quartette who dispense some rare humor full of the broadness and beauty of the Carolina mountains. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.
